

Equipment Breakdown

On your farm are many buildings. Barns, shops, and outbuildings all have their place and purpose and many of them have heating and cooling or other various systems that keep your product and business in top condition.

Most standard policies do not look after these systems, and depending on the size of your operation a boiler rupture or a refrigeration unit going down can be a major disruption. This coverage will also look after generator systems that are permanently installed and computer hardware you require to keep your systems running.

Because your business never takes a day off, these systems need to be working when you are.

My Mutual's Equipment Breakdown coverage looks after those systems like:

- Propane, Gas, and Oil Furnaces
- Boiler systems with in-floor heat
- Bins with Aeration
- Buildings with refrigeration units
- Permanently installed generator units

Because many of these systems are the backbone of your business, our Equipment Breakdown coverage may also look after costs associated with your business interruption, spoilage damage, and utility interruption.
